Department.

It is expected the contract will go to the Sidney L. Heckinger Co., of this city, who made the lowest bid, $2,340. However, it will require two or three days to complete all requisites for let ting the contract.

There were two other bidders, the C. H. Schartzer Co., of Dayton, Ohio, who made a bid of $7,450, and the English Construction Co., of this city, who made-a bid of $40,000.

House of Detention Remains.

House of Detention Remains.

The bid of the Sidney L. Heckinger Co., however, is very low, and is explained by the fact that there is a great deal of valuable material in the buildings to be wrecked, such as brick, glass, lumber and plumbing fixtures. The buildings to be wrecked are residences, garages and stores. The only buildings that will not be torn down are the House of Detention and temporary building known as Annex No. 2, housing income tax unit employes. The clearing of the ground must be completed within 30 days.

Nothing further can be done as yet toward the clearing of ground for the new Internal Revenue Building to be located in the rear of the Postoffice Department Building. All the ground that can now be cleared for this building has been cleared. Before the full foundation space for this building will be available problems created by the condemnation of property and the appeals of owners must be settled, and there is the farmers' market problem that must be disposed of. It will probably be December 1 before anything further is done in preparation for this building.

POSITION OF DAWES IM REPUBLICAN RACE GROWING PROBLEM

Some Hold, Though Vice President Is Silent, Lowden Is Stalking for Him.

SWITCH IN CONVENTION IS SEEN AS DIFFICULT

Hoover Is Looked On as Having Considerable Strength in Farm States.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The position of Vice President Dawes in the Republican Presidential race, at first blush the best of those being mentioned, is in reality fraught with many possible upsets, in the opinio of political observers here.

On the surface, the general seems o be occupying the key position. Especially does this seem true with the owing thought that former Governor Lowden, of Illinois, intends nothing more than to be his stalking horse. Boosters of the general argue that Lowden has little hope of obtaining the nomination himself. He must know too much about politics to believe that the Eastern delegates will accept him, it is reasoned.

The long and close friendship between him and Dawes is well known. band, Medill McCormick.

Their relations are said to be so close. "I choose to run for the Republican would not have been a target for the preconvention political shafts.

Lowden-Dawes team, in the opinion of many. There is general agreement that there is a menace unless the maneuvering is of the most skilifful nature. If a movement in behalf of Dawes should assume any proportions at all in the Middle West, there outwerdly would be a cleavage between him and Lowden regardless of what kind of understanding they might have together. Farm relief strength is not sufficient to support two candidates. In fact, it can not alone support one.

Of course, the general's friends are working hard to keep him out of the zace, in so far as appearances are concerned. He has insisted that he will not be a candidate as long as his iriend Lowden is in the race. But neither has Secretary of Commerce Hoover said he was a candidate, nor many. There is general agreement that either has Secretary of Commerce loover said he was a candidate, nor as former Secretary of State Hughes, or has Lowden for that matter, al-lough his campaign is so obvious as most to permit his being called an ben candidate.

Of significance, too, was the senator' views on farm relief. He is not pre pared to demand the McNary-Haugen bill or nothing. He wants farm relied and his State wants it, but to say that it must be the McNary-Haugen bill, of

is the coauthor, or nothing—that is not the attitude for members of Congress to take. If Senator McNary, has weakened similarly, then the administration or Jardine plan should have been said and the West develop as one between Lowen and Hoover. There should be just enough activity on his behalf, in their opinion, to prepare for an easy switch of Lowden's delegates to him. Other wise, it is pointed out, the tendency might be toward Hoover about whom considerable would have been said and done in the preconvention campaign.

They see in the team of Lowden and Dawes a splitting of the farm vote, on which the former particularly depends. Already Dawes is being mentioned throughout the Middle West, it is pointed out, and all of the mentioning does not concern his being a second choice to Lowden.

There is a strong belief, in fact, that Dawes is more popular with the rank and file of people in the Middle West than Lowden, although, of course, the politicians, as between the two, are more inclined to lean toward Lowden. This is largely because Lowden is the politicians, as between the two, are more inclined to lean toward Lowden. This is largely because Lowden is the politic and permitted himself to be leaned upon.

tions to Prosecutors.

(Associated Press.)

Prohibition enforcement officials are not required to report to United States attorneys violations of dry laws coming to their knowledge, the Government held in a brief filed yesterday in the Supreme Court in an appeal by John P. Donnelley, former Federal prohibition director for Nevada.

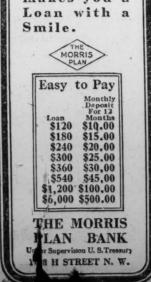

Donnelley was convicted in the Federal District court for Nevada on the charge of having unlawfully withheld from the United States attorney for that district information which had come to him charging James A. Curran with violating the prohibition law by hauling liquor into Reno.

The Circuit Court of Appeals asked the Supreme Court for instructions on the point in question and the brief yesterday declared that in view of the "well-established rule that offenses should be created only in language that need not deceive the common mind, so that every man might be able to know with certainty when he is committing a crime," the Government was inclined to the view that the question should be answered in the negative. Should that view be taken by the Supreme Court the proceedings against Donnelley must be dismissed.

The station was decorated with American and Italian colors, while a guard of honor kept the passage clear to the entrance of the station for National Commander Savage and the other members of the party.

The last official function was a banquet tendered by the Italian war veterans. In the course of his speech, Commander Savage expressed hearty thanks to Premier Mussolini as head of the government for the many courtesies extended during the visit.

The World War, he said, had taught the people appreciation of peace and brought them together in a common desire honorably to avoid war.

A slight decrease in the number of infantile paralysis cases over the country during the week ended September 24 is indicated by reports from various States made public yesterday by the Public Health Service.

With figures yet to be received from Ohio, where there were 89 cases during the week ended September 17, the total for the Nation at the end of last week was 554, compared with 655 under treatment the week before. (Associated Press.)

FEDERAL COURTS LESS CONGESTED, TAFT SAYS

MORE JUDGES ARE ASKED

Marked success has attended the ef orts of the Federal courts throughout the country to catch up with the busi ess before them, Chief Justice Taft said in a statement last night at con clusion of the conference of senior circuit judges, over which he presided.

After a careful study of court con-ditions by the conference during its three days' sessions, the Chief Justice declared that conditions were muci more satisfactory than a year ago. The conference placed particular stress upon the progress which has been made in clearing up criminal cases made in clearing up criminal cases, particularly those arising from violations of the prohibition law. Such cases are no longer piling up, it was said, but are being promptly disposed of without interfering with the disposition of civil cases.

The conference reported that during the year there was a reduction of 3,500 in the number of criminal cases pending in the district courts, while the number of civil suits pending had been reduced 2,000. In 1926 the number of criminal cases before the district courts was 38,858, and in 1927 the number had been reduced to 35,386. Of civil cases there were 18,455 before the district courts in 1926, but this volume of business, including the new cases which were filed during the year, had been reduced to 16,443 in 1927.

The conference declared that with a more rigid dismissal of dead cases the condition of the dockets in the Federal courts would show still further improvement.

Safety and Earning Power Described by New Head of Association.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 29 (A.P.).— Open discussion of internal problems of the organization held the attention of the Investment Bankers Association of America here today. Differences be-tween the large originating house and the smaller distributing bond dealers were revealed in the two-hour session.

were revealed in the two-hour session. Discussion started with the report of the newly created business problems committee and centered around a suggestion that the members consider the advisability of having all subscriptions for syndicate bonds accompanied by cash payment of at least 10 per cent. "It has been suggested," said Trowbridge Callaway, of New York, a member of the business problems committee, "that this cash payment might tend to lessen the present practice of padding subscriptions and making it more possible for syndicate managers to allot bonds on a mutually more satisfactory basis. The suggestion has also been made that it would make possible a prompter closing of syndicates and a free secondary market and relieve some of the difficulties and malpractices prevaiting under our present subscription system."

relieve some of the difficulties and malpractices prevailing under our present subscription system."

Opposition to the plan was led by Sigmund Stern, of Kansas City. Stern thought that the 10 per cent payment would do nothing toward solving the syndicate problems.

For the committee, Callaway said that it was neutral on the question and merely desired to obtain the opinion of the members.

The commission plan of paying bond salesmen was described by speakers as primarily responsible for many abuses and poor practices in the investment securities business, but no one offered an alternative sales plan.

THE NATION'S GREAT DUTY.

There are indications that passage of time has not dimmed appreciation of the Mississippi River flood problem and its magnitude. Only this week Lewis E. Pierson, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, urged the extension of credit agencies in the flooded area for another year. Coincidentally the Investment Bankers Association adopted a resolution calling upon the Government to deal with flood control as a national duty. These are only two of many instances which show a realization of what the spring disaster meant to the South.

The recent actions and the sources from which they come emphasize the importance of the great duty that confronts Congress. Mr. Pierson in his findings made it plain that the inhabitants of the flooded regions have been unable to raise any money crops this year. Relief agencies have extended sufficient aid to keep body and soul together, but economic recovery has not set in. Another year must elapse before any progress may be made toward self-support. Until the fall of 1928 the emergency created by the floods will continue. The despoiled inhabitants must have assistance. Withdrawal of aid now would, in a great many cases, mean starvation on land which has just been wrested from the turbulent rivers.

Financial aid extended to individuals will not alone solve the problem. Steps must be taken to prevent a recurrence of the devastation next spring. Emergency repairs are now being made in the broken levees, but the inhabitants of the Mississippi watershed, embracing 42 per cent of the Nation's area, have a right to ask that protection be made perma National recognition of the necessity is a vital element in governmental acceptance of the responsibility. Willingness of the investment bankers to view the matter in this light is an exceedingly encouraging sign. A few more manifestations of the same sort and members of Congress, not directly affected by the floods, will be willing to give nonpartisan cooperation to whatever recommendations the administration may make.

GENE TUNNEY'S AMBITION.

mmediately following the Dempsey-Tunney fight, former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio made a statement that found its way into the press to the effect that the ambition of the world's heavyweight champion was to become a teacher and leader of the youth of the country. The story finds substantiation in a copyrighted article just published, in which Tunney makes the statement that what he wants to do more than anything else as soon as his financial inpendence is assured is to consecrate his life the welfare of youth, to teach it the value of ean living, chastity and kindred subjects.

It may seem a long step for a heavyweight champion to take. Yet Tunney is an unusual champion. Those who know him have felt certain for long that the heavyweight championshin has not sat too heavily on his shoulders, that it was not the final achievement as far as he was concerned. Nor has it been believed that Tunney would follow the footsteps of otiters who have worn the championship belt before him, to retire into obscurity when his reign in fistiana had been completed.

Other athletes have taken steps not radically different from that which he contemplates. Billy Sunday left professional baseball to become an evangelist. The iron duke, William Muldoon, departed the professional wrestling ring to found and manage a highly successful health farm. Kid Wedge, once a boxer, became an evangelist and entered Harvard University. Why should not Tunney become a crusader for the cause of youth? He admits that his plan of service has not yet been originated. "Somehow," he says, "I feel that I will find the way." It is to be hoped that he will, for the example of his own life, coupled with his great popularity, should make the teaching he plans to do of unusual force and value.

A BETTER VAGRANCY LAW.

At the request of the superintendent of police, who has had trouble enforcing the local vagrancy law, the corporation counsel has drafted a new measure drastic and far reaching in its scope, which has been presented to the Commissioners for their approval. The bill contains seven definitions of vagrants and provides a penalty of not more than 90 days' imprisonment for conviction on this count. It would allow the court in its discretion, howto permit the vagrant to post conditioned upon his future industry and good

Strict vagrancy laws constitute good anticrime insurance. Cities in which vagrants are known to be subject to immediate arrest and imprisonment are avoided by criminals and the criminally inclined. The present vagrancy law requires the police to produce in court a record of the movements of a known vagrant. Then, if he can exhibit $50, he is freed. Under such a law it has not been difficult for gamblers, agents of bookmakers and others who make their living through preying upon others to avoid arrest and prosecute their activities with impunity.

The Baumes laws of New York, the habitual criminal laws of Michigan and similar legislation recently enacted in several other States has started a general movement of criminals and shady characters toward jurisdictions where the penal laws are not so stringent. It is not improbable that some of these may head toward Washington. With a comprehensive vagrancy law the Police Department would be well equipped to cope with any such influx. No steps should be spared to hasten the adop-

DOLLAR DIPLOMACY.

The Department of State has been accused, in times past, of fostering that brand of international comity known as dollar diplomacy. But those who have had occasion to await in awe their turn before being ushered into the sanctums of the eminent gentlemen who frame our treaties, by that dean and paragon of diplomatic messengers, Eddie Savoy, know how unjust is the intimation that dollars have anything whatever to do with the State De-

In fact, it is but seldom that the vulgar subject of money is ever permitted to disturb the majestic deliberation of that great arm of the Government, whether its energies are concentrated upon the issuance of a passport or deciding precedence at a diplomatic reception at the White House.

Under such conditions it is difficult to understand why there should ever have been doubt as to what might be expected from the department when Representative Davenport proposed that a survey be instituted by Congress to ascertain the needs of the department and how best to "increase its approbation." The State Department desires approbation, and diplomatically intimates that the idea of "survey ing" its needs will not meet with its disap proval, even if the survey should lead to increased appropriations. The State Department can use more funds than have thus far been made available for the conduct of its delicate mission in life, but it prefers to have appropriations thrust upon it rather than appear to be exercising dollar diplomacy upon Congress.

The appropriations for this branch of the Government service approximate $10,000,000 yearly, but 85 per cent of that sum is returned to the Treasury from the fees received for passports and visas. And this leads the New York World to suggest that while we spend $676,-000,000 annually preparing for war, we spend only $1,500,000 insuring peace.

A year or so ago the World was insisting that the State Department was engaged in an attempt to force the United States into war with Nicaragua and Mexico; now we are advised by that journal that the business of the department is "insuring peace." Even if nothing more shall come from the proposed survey of the New York representative, it is gratifying to learn that his proposal has brought the World around to the conclusion that peace, and not war, is the objective of the department's labors.

THE MOTOR CAR WAR,

Again the General Motors Corporation takes occasion to deny the rumor that the introduction of the new model Ford automobile will precipitate a trade war involving Chevrolet. Wall street has heard repeatedly that new models of the latter car had been designed and approved and that production awaited only the initial display of the Ford. Chevrolet is reported to have both a new four and a new six cylinder car ready for distribution, and the price is said to have been fixed at within $50 of the amount Henry Ford will ask for his new product. In a speech delivered before newspaper automobile editors in Detroit the other day, however, Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of General Motors, denied emphatically that a trade war was in prospect, and made the flat assertion that the new Ford would not compete with any General Motors product.

The Ford car is designed to appeal to a great mass of people. General Motors' idea is to make a car of greater luxury than the Forda car that properly belongs to the next higher class. With every price car there is a definite Yet $50, even in the low price automobile market, is not a large sum of money, particularly if it is split into the number of parts equal to the number of installment payments upon which most automobiles today are purchased. If the price difference between the new Ford and the new Chevrolet is to be that small, and if the Chevrolet is designed to appeal to what Mr. Sloan calls the next higher class, what reason is there to believe that sales of the one will not affect considerably sales of the other?

Despite the disavowal, the rumor that trade competition between Ford and Chevrolet is about to come to white heat seems highly reasonable. It may be quite true that there is room for both organizations within the industry. Nevertheless, one or the other must dominate the low price field, and in the struggle to establish such dominance it seems inevitable that sparks will fly.

OF LAW THERE IS NO END.

The October term of the United States Supreme Court will begin on Monday with a docket as long as usual, in spite of the fact that the last term made a record in the matter of disposing of cases presented. About 275 cases were pending at the close of the last term, and there have been filed during the recess 279 more.

Nor is the United States Supreme Court the only Federal tribunal which has its "work cut out." Litigation seems to keep pace with other conditions which demonstrate that the country is still prosperous. The lawyers are not behind men in other professions whose bank accounts are bulging, if we are to judge from reports of the Department of Justice. The business of suing the Government thrived greatly during the last fiscal year, and is still in a healthy condition. On July 1, 1926, there were pending in the various district courts 122 cases with aggregate claims against Uncle Sam of $3,249,472, and 25 new cases filed during the year added $100,556 to the total in dispute. During the year 36 cases were settled involving claims of $1,724,731 in which judgments amounting to $141,731 were entered for the claimants, less $2,600 awarded to the defendant in counter claims. Also the Department of Justice in its efforts to settle up those arising out of war transactions succeeded in collecting $2.853 .-051. However, in the so-called "cantonment cases" the circuit courts in all three, Camp Funston, Camp Sherman and Camp Meade, decided against the Government's contention that improper expenditures were made in the construction of the cantonments.

Business was brisk also in the Court of At the start of the fiscal year there were 2,033 cases on the docket. Six hundred and nine of these have been settled, with net judgments in favor of claimants of $11,098 .-544, leaving still to be determined 1,922 cases with aggregate claims of $1,852,112,200.

"Among the cases determined in the Court of Claims," says a report of the department, "out of an aggregate of $41,185,920 set up by claimants, judgments of the court amounted to $5,230,929. These cases arose chiefly out of disputed Shipping Board matters." Which presages continued prosperity in the way of litigation in the United States Supreme Court

AIRPLANES AND HUMAN NERVES.

A letter addressed to the Secretary of War contains the assertion that with the increase of airports in and near large cities, with the constant arrival and departure of planes with their dips and zooms, the effect on the nerves and sanity of the populace is bound to cause "damage equal to the Mississippi River floods." The department is requested to take action to prevent the awful calamity which is confronting the country.

One is reminded of the story, so frequently repeated, of the board of church trustees which years ago was asked to lend its structure for a meeting to discuss ways and means to attract a railroad to the community. Permission was refused on the ground that a church was not the proper place in which to discuss anything as ungodly as a railroad. A hundred years ago much of the populace stood in mortal terror of the fire-snorting mechanical contraption that had just been created. Few could see in it any good. Few could foresee the development that was to take place.

The public no longer looks upon innovations with apprehension. Too many wonderful machines have been developed to warrant any fear of the new.

It is not necessary to insist that creation of airports in and near large cities will have little or no effect on the nerves of the populace. Once the public is used to seeing and hearing planes it will not notice their presence. Incidental annoyances may follow the adaptation of the airplane to universal use, as they have followed the automobile and all other innovations, but the gain to humanity will make the incidental discomforts negligible.

MACHINERY IMPROVEMENTS.

Several manufacturers are exhibiting nonmetal gears and wheels at the Chemical Industries Exposition in New York. This development in factory equipment makes use of composition substances of fibrous materials such as asbestos and its derivatives, or of synthetic resins. Not only do such gears and wheels make machinery noiseless, but manufacturers of them claim that they are lighter, that they reduce friction to a minimum, and that they do away with the wear and tear which invariably attends the grinding of metal on metal.

Nonmetal composition gears are not a strictly new development. In certain types of machinery they have been used for many years, but they have never yet demonstrated efficiency great enough to justify the general replacement of steel or cast iron. Yet it is to be expected that eventually such substitution is bound to take

Metal, to all intents and purposes, is hard and unyielding. Even in the most highly efficient machine it is bound to wear. Once wear starts it hastens further wear, not only in the part affected, but, because of transmitted vibrations, throughout the entire machine. Composition materials, however, can have built into them more or less resiliency, and whereas they also are bound to wear, this resiliency tends to diminish vibrations to the rest of the machine.

The noiseless factor also is more important than appears on the surface. Neurologists testify that noise has a bad effect upon efficiency, and experiments recently completed have proved conclusively that every one, be he typist or factory worker, can labor more efficiently over a greater length of time in quiet surroundings. The development of silent ma chinery will be followed by beneficial results in every respect.

TOO EARLY FOR OCEAN FLYING.

Rene Fonck has taken time from the dismantling of the airplane Ville de Paris, constructed for a transatlantic flight that never materialized, to announce that within six weeks he will place an order for the construction of two duplicates of it, the three planes to be used in the spring for inauguration of the first regular New York-to-Paris commercial flying service. Plenty of money is behind the project,

It is to be doubted that the time has arrived for regular commercial transatlantic flying. While it is generally admitted that the Ville de Paris is a fine plane, perhaps the best that has been constructed so far for the purpose intended, the events of this summer show that the airplane is not yet an instrument capable of such service. During a rather short season when weather conditions are apt to be right, transatlantic flights may be undertaken with reasonable hope of safety. The length of that season has not been determined as yet, however, although it seems certain that it could not be more than about four months long. Even during this period weather conditions are not favorable every day and commercial flying, to justify its name and existence, must

Should the Fonck plans materialize, next summer may witness worse tragedies than last. There is no reason to believe that his planes can make the hazardous voyage any more successfully than any others that have tried and failed. What is needed now is further research in airplane design and better airplanes for the purpose intended rather than inauguration of a transatlantic service. Rene Fonck is an able flier and a well-inform d student of the air. He would do well to vote his time for the next few years towar improving planes in general, rather empting prematurely to establish an The public will not patroniz e until greater safety is assured

But when morning came, and he had finished breakfast, worked through the days and nights he decided to allow himself one more day of pleasure.

Thereafter he swore off each night and resumed smoking each morning, as many another man has done, and the habit of surrendering became as much a part of him as the habit of smoking.

There were times when he lay awake at night and cursed himself. "You darned weakling," he would say, "the babit has got you. You haven't will power enough to quit it." ## Du Pont Co. to Build Big Plant in Virginia

REPORTS SHOW BIG

Richmond, Va., Sept. 29 (A.P.).—The News Leader says today that the Du Pont interests will build an artificial slik plant costing several million dollars and employing from 2,000 to 3,000 men and women on the Petersburg turnpike, 3 miles from Richmond. The paper adds that work on the new plant is expected to start within the next 60 days.

Officials of the Du Pont company in Wilmington, Del., have consented to publication of the announcement, the paper says, and confirmed the statement that 395 acres of land have been obtained for the site of the gigantic plant. The site is adjacent to the James River and Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, affording both rail and water transportation.

St. Louis, Sept. 29.—A tornado and rainstorm, sweeping over St. Louis and vicinity this afternoon, blasted an area of six aquare miles through the residential and business sections of telegity, and took a toll of more than 60 lives and property damage that may exceed $75,000,000.

With rescuers working through the ingith, it is probable that the death list may reach 100 and that the list of injured, which now stands at 600, may reach 1,000 to 1,500. More than 5,000 houses were destroyed.

The storm struck with sudden fury at 1 o'clock this afternoon and its first intensity was noticed at Manchester and Taylor avenues. Then with ever increasing intensity it swept north in a widened area to Prairie avenue, west to Kings highway and east to Glasgow avenue. This area measures approximately six square miles and embraces both residential and business blocks.

The violent wind was accompanied by a terrific rainstorm, which added to the desolation. Trees were uprooted, houses any toys, telephone poles were snapped off at the ground and electric light wires were scrambled on the ground.

Of the 35 homes and business houses that sheltered Rudy's 150 residents, only the Frisco Railway depot, five stores and half a dozen dwellings remained intact. Among structures demolished was the Missionary Baptist Church. Fourteen homes were leveled, while a barn and blacksmith shop were scattered over a wide area.

Two New Numbers to Be Given in Program of Cities Service Orchestra.

ANGLO-PERSIANS ON AIR

Two new selections composed by Pasquale Rescigno, 28-year-old assistant conductor of the National Grand and conductor of the National Grand and Light Opera ensembles, will be played by the Cities Service Concert Orchestra, directed by Rosario Bourdon, over WRC, tonight at 8 o'clock. Rescigno's brother, a member of the Cities Service Orchestra, will play the trumpet.

Rescigno is a product of the Royal Conservatoire at Napies, a school rich in tradition and noted for its musical library. He has studied both the plano and trumpet. Two years ago he joined the National Broadcasting Co. as planist for the National Concert Orchestra In the absence of Cesare Sodero he has many times directed the rehearsals and performances.

Mr. Bourdon has included several pleasing selections in his program for this evening. Following his own "Cities Service March," which opens the program, a selection from Victor Herbert's "Mile. Modister" will be played. Other numbers include Chabrier's "Espana," Popper's "Gavotte." Foldini's "Waltzing Doll," and "Roses of Picardy."

The Cities Service Cavaliers will sing

the Gloaming."

Following the W. B. & A. Quartet and the Lord Calvert ensemble the Anglo-Persians will be on the air at 10 o'clock. The program is one of classical selections which should prove particulated to the contract of the contract director, believes the presentation one of the best of his many broadcasting of the best of his many broadcasting programs.

After the familiar "Call of the Desert," the program swings into "Danse des Serpents." Then follows the "Naila," "Meditation" from Thais; "Aragonaise," "Persian Rose," "Dance of the Veils," "Turkish Dance" and the Parting melody.

There will be an organ recital at noon from the Kitt studios, followed at 1 o'clock by the Mayflower Hotel Orchestra. There will be a play by play account of the Washington-New York baseball game at 2 o'clock.

During the late afternoon several short features will be on the air from the New York studios, including Erna Field, cellist, and monologues by Charlotte Deegan.

Phil Hayden and Les Colvin will be on the air from WMAL at 8:10 o'clock, followed by Janet Coon, novelty whistler; Thelma Callahan, janist, and a Russian specialty by the Bronoff sisters, Russian singers, and Sasha Condine, guitarist.

Bride of Retired Baltimore WPG-Merchant Is 23 and a Divorcee.

a Divorcee.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 29 (A.P.). Aaron Benesch, retired merchant and banker of this city, and Miss Helen Henderson, member of the Ziegfeld Follies from 1923 to 1925, were married at Zion Lutheran Church here late yesterday. The wedding followed what Mr. Benesch called an "elopement" from New York city, where he has lived since 1922.

Mr. Benesch, in procuring a marriage license, gave his age as 60, while Miss Henderson's was given as 23.

Miss Henderson has been divorced once and Mr. Benesch twice in Baltimore courts. The couple came here for the ceremony, Benesch swid, when it was found impossible to obtain a license in New York because of a law prohibiting remarriage within three years of persons divorced on statutory grounds. This, he said, would have necessitated a delay until December.

Mr. Benesch's first wife was granted a divorce on statutory grounds in 1916. A week later he remarried, and was divorced on the same grounds in 1925. The couple planned to go to New York today, and thence to California.

16 EVENING SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY

> Threefold Purpose of Public Courses to Include College Preparation.

Night school classes will open in six-teen Washington schools at 6:30 o clock Monday night, sccording to Assistant Superintendent W. H. Patterson, di-Superintendent W. H. Patterson, director of white special schools, and Supervising Principal L. L. Perry, in charge of colored night classes.

The threefold purpose of night courses was outlined in a circular issued yesterday at the Franklin Building. It was explained that these classes are designed for those whose circumstances made it impossible for them to attend a day school; others whose employment may be materially improved by further education; and for those who wish to enter college, but whose education is not sufficient.

Steamed Finnan Haddie

Select a firm, smoked finnan haddie, oreferably the side with the bone, as this side is larger and the meat more plentiful. Wash well, place in a roasting pan, which may be closely covered and add a third to a half cupful of water—just enough to keep the fish from sticking to the pan and to provide steam for the cooking. Cover closely, place over a very low flame and steam for twenty minutes. Then place the fish carefully on a heated platter, remove the large bone and dot bits of butter over the flakes. Sprinkle with minced parsiey and a little paprika.

Serve at once before the flakes have opportunity to dry.

There are many ways in which sweet potatoes may be made attractive—and we admit, do we not, that sweet potatoes are a delightful substitute for their white cousin from time to time. The recipe we are about to pass along comes from a friend in New York and is particularly delicious. I am taking the liberty of giving it in response to a request for sweet potato puff—which we shall send by mail to make sure this reader receives her particular recipe.

BEAUTY AND YOU

THE IMPORTANCE OF TRIFLES

TRIFLES

STTIE J." asks a question that is, at first glance, a bit surprising. She says, "Is there any remedy for run-down heels?" And she goes on to say that she has noticed this state of affairs not only in herown case, but in that of other girls. Didn't it occur to her that this fault is bound to exist wherever a person who walks badly, who strikes one side of the foot more than the other, will run down one's heels the more quickly. But any high heel will show a certain amount of unevenness with time. Hence the reason for the existence of cobbiers and shoe repair shops.

It is just such a small thing as this that makes every difference in the personal appearance, in the impression that we make on other people. If all beauty lacks could be met as easily as this one, what a simple problem we should have!

Both plain and pretty women must keep everlastingly at details if they want to be smart and attractive and pleasing to the eye. Buttons and snaps and hooks must be firmly sewed on Skirts must be the right length and may not sag. Hems should be examined from time to time for loose stitches where a heel might inadvertantly catch. Collars should be brushed

Compact Closet for Man's Room

THE great difficulty in planning a is unquestionably the best solution. THE great difficulty in planning a room for a man is to incorporate in it the right amount of closet space, and to have that space so divided and equipped that the last small difficulty is removed from the path of order and system. Where such storage arrangement is provided for in the original house plans and made an integral part of a room, the problem is well on the way to solving itself. In all other cases a compact closet on the general style of the one here illustrated

MODISH MITZI

Mitzl is practically dressed although you might not think so. There's her frock to put on, but it's laid out on the bed all ready. The really important question is—shall she wear the single drop or the quadruple drop earrings? Both are of cut and glittering crystal and she can't decide.

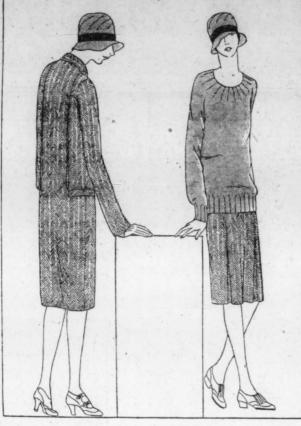

This wardrobe closet for a man's room fills every masculine requirement.

A rack of the pull-out variety holds any number of coats; convenient shelves accommodate hats, linen and tollet articles, and there are shoe and tie racks and a special section for trousers. If desired, a few of the open shelves might be converted into drawers for greater protection against dust.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS=

THERE should be no pillow on the baby's bed. Prior to birth babies lie curled with the head almost touching the feet. As the years of senility unfold the chin bends over, searching for those toes. One way to keep babyhood and senility as far apart as possible is to keep the chin and the toes as far apart as possible—to promote the erect posture with the head thrown back, and the time to begin is in babyhood.

A baby sleeps most of the time on his back. He is so built that the back of his bed and the back of his body can lie on the same mattress without causing a bend in his neck. When he turns on his side in bed there is not much bend in his neck. The chest of a baby is either round or deep. The broad chest of the adult is not acquired until long after babyhood.

The real reason why an adult needs a pillow is because his broad shoulders are debilitating.

EXPECTANT MOTHER MAY SWIM.

To the l'mit of space, questions pertinent to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosts or prescribe for individual disease.

BABIES DO NOT NEED PILLOWS.

THERE should be no pillow on the baby's bed. Price to hytth babies.

The real reason why an adult needs a pillow is because his broad shoulders cause his neck to crook when he sleeps on his side. On the other hand, pillows are warm, and many bables are pronio to sweat around the head.

It is doubtful if older children should ever sleep in ghildren we notice that they generally abandon their pillows before the sleep is finished, even though they have been trained in the pillow habit. They go to bed with the pillow habit. They go to bed with the pillow habit.

No. 13. North should pass. With only two Hearts and with six Diamonds North has a natural desire to deny his partner's Hearts; but without at least one quick trick, a denial is inadvisable. It announces strength which the hand does not contain and may lead to disastrous results.

No. 15. One No Trump. With strong Diamonds and the Clubs stopped, No Trump makes a more advantageous denial than two Diamonds. A two-Diamond denial would announce absence of help for a No Trump (outside of the Diamond suit), but the King of Clubs is an important No Trump factor. With this type of hand game is much more probable at No Trump than at a suit-bid.

probable at No Trump that a bid.

No. 16. One Spade. Another hand in which a denial is advisable and defensible; a Spade denial, weak though the hand is, is apt to work better than a No Trump. When the hand had a quick trick in a Minor, a denial may be made with a five-card Major headed by King or Queen.

The four hands to be considered tomorrow are:

wood of house sills and frames where, once established, they are exceedingly difficult to erndicate.

On looking up the matter I find there are available two chemicals which can be used effectively in the war, on ants if the enemies' strongholds can be located. The druggist knows them as carbon bisulphide and calcium cyanide, both of them poisonous and therefore to be used only with proper precautions. Small quantities of these introduced into the entrances of the ants' burrows, or in holes made in the ground with a stick where it is a case of dealing with a real ant hill, will do the work. The deadly gases which form when these chemicals are exposed to the air will work downward and destroy the insects. After filling the holes with either of these poisons they should be covered with bits of turf to prevent the escape of the gas.

Telephone operating revenues for August vere $525,340, a gain of $6,367 ever July and an advance of $39,089 over August totaled $441,355, a frominal gain over August totaled $441,355, a frominal gain over August a year ago of $41,300. Net income after taxes and interest deductions reached $83,532 practically no change from July, but compared with August, 1926, an increase of $11,651 is revealed.

The report shows that during the year a number of important additions have been made to the plant of the telephone company in the District. These include a new telephone central office building at Georgia avenue and Gallatin street northwest, and the installation of switchboards and associate equipment which will be placed in service about January 1; the completion of the new office and supply building on North Capitol street; the installation and placing in service of the new Decatur central office and extensive switchboard additions to the Cleveland central office equipment.

Suburban Washington is growing rapidly and it has been necessary to establish new telephone plants at Silver Spring and in the Bethesda section. The Silver Spring office was recently placed in operation, but the new Bradley central office plant to serve Bethesda and vicinity to be housed in a central office opinity to be housed in a central office opinity to be housed in a central office opinity in the set wo Maryland offices, though situated close to the District line, are a part of the system of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Baltimore.

Abitibl Paper & Pulp was twirled to a new high of 127, a net gain of 10% points. Houston Oil, one of the most active stocks on the up side, established a new high at 158% and closed just under the best, and 9½ points above yesterday's final price. A few other new high levels were established, with gains, as a rule, under 4 points.

Numerous stocks finished in the minus column, but most of the losses were of a fractional character. Industrial leaders like General Motors and United States Steel were under pressure most of the day, but they found considerable support in the late trading and managed to finish with fractional gains.

An early burst of selling was prompted by the announcement of a renewal of 4 per cent for call money. In view of the proximity of month-end settlements, there was nothing surprising in the higher rate, but it gave the sellers a pretext. Undoubtedly much of the selling was for short account. Some nervousness in the market was caused by various reports as to the brokerage loan total to be reported by the Federal Reserve System later in the day.

The ratiroad and utility lists contributed some very buoyant stocks, and nearly all the members of these groups showed some appreciation. Among the rails which made substantial progress upward were C. & O. and Nickel Plate, which sold at a new peak; Canadian Pacific, Eric, New Haven, New York All, Refining (4).

dull. Merchandising shares were well bought, Montgomery Ward scoring a new high level at 83%, up 1% net; Woolworth gained 1¼ and Sears Roebuck 3%. Since International Paper rose to a new high along with Abitibi, only at a somewhat less rapid pace, the rumor quickly circulated that the two were planning a merger, both of paper and of power interests. The rumor, however, was unconfirmed. International Paper closed at 61½, a net gain of 414 points.

Renewed selling of Texas Gulf Sulphur was rather disturbing to those Renewed selling of Texas Gulf Sulphur was rather disturbing to those who have been most bullish on the stock of late. A good measure of today's selling was put down as representing actual liquidation prompted by the growing belief that an increase in the dividend is unlikely at the approach meeting. The stock recovered its early losses in the last hour, however, and closed with a fractional gain. Freeport, Tex. under heavy early selling, also quit in the plus column by slightly less than a point.

Quotations for most European currencies moved over a narrow range in quiet dealings. Lire were up slightly and posetas dropped 3 points. Canadian dollars fell off on debt payments plans news, and Chinese rates and Peruvian pounds moved upward.

Of course, Huggins thinks the Yankees will win—and he is showing no signs of worrying as to the outcome of the coming set—yet he states that he has no plans and that he will let "nature take its course" in the coming set with the Pittsburgh Pirates, who, at this writing, appear to be the National League's representative in baseball's annual October handicap.

"Yes, I think we'll win," he said just before today's game with the Harrismen. "We ought to after the kind of ball we played this season. What we did, taking the bad with the good and averaging it up, makes me think we've got a club that can win this series. "They say that if Pittsburgh wins the pennant in the National League, the Pittsburgh wins the pennant in the National League, the re stronger than we are on the of the diamond. Well, if the nger on the right sid rs and we can hit better than they

"The Yankees aren't weak curve-ball hitters, and don't get that into your head that they are. I've seen them hit curve-ball pitching and I've seen curve-ball pitching they didn't hit, and I've seen them hit and fail to hit fast-ball pitching. I guess every ball club has that ex-perience."

ingte and that an error is tremendously costly and beyond repair and that extra effort must be put into every play.

"Do that, and you have the sort of psychology that wins," he concluded. As is always the case in a short series, Huggins feels that pitching will decide the issue. He points out that the Yankees have more of a variety of slants to offer, including spitballs, knucke balls, south-paw flinging and curves. This, however, may not cut any figure in a short series, as variety won't be needed by the Pirates if their standard everyday equipment holds up.

It is such "breaks" that often turn the tide one way or another. Sometimes they lift a player from comparative obscurity to world's series fame, as was the case in 1921 when Johnny Rawlings, a substi-tute, jumped in to play a star game at second base for the Glants.

War Whoop Is Victor Over Juveniles in Chatelaine.

Rejuvenation, Island Parm's colt, yesterday outgamed Nat Evena in a stretch duel to win the Exterminator Handicap, the programmed feature over a mile and a sixteenth rouse. # YANKS SUPERIOR TO RIVALS IN RESERVE STRENGTH

Huggins' Regulars Backed By Capable Substitutes

Pirates, Minus Cuyler, Would Have Only Brickell to Fill In in Outfield and Groh and Cronin for Infield.

RUNS FOR WEEK

By W. CHARLES QUANT (Post's Baseball Statistician).

THE New York Yankees, champions of the American League, will enter the annual baseball classic next week commanding a big margin over the National League club, with respect to reserve strength that may be thrown into the breach when injury or some other factor may urge a change in the line-ups of the contenders.

The American leaguers present Gazella, Morehart and Wera as infelders, and Paschal and Durst as fly chasers. On the other hand, the Pittsburgh Pirates have Cronin, Groh and Rhyne for infield duty, with only Brickell available for the outfield unless "Kiki" Cuyler is again pressed into service. Gazella and Wera have displayed their ability around the hot corner, and Miller Huggins, the midget manager, should have little to worry him should he find it necessary to rush either to the rescue of Joe Dugan. To offset injury or disqualification to "Push" fem up, Tony" the Yanks have Morehart, acquired from the White Sox last winter. Morehart, while not the finished player that Lazzeri is, will probably give a good enough account of himself should he get into the fray.

Roenty's position at shortstop can be filled by either Gazella of linging. Marris and Canzel singled linging. Harris and Canzel singled linging. Harris and Canzel singled Koenig's position at shortstop can be filled by either Gazella or Lazzeri should changes be demand<sup>2</sup> ed in this position. It is very likely that Huggins will call Ga-zella rather than weaken second base by moving Lazzeri over.

Paschal and Cedric Durst, former Paschal and Cedric Durst, former Brown player, will fill in any vacancies in the outfield, with the latter also available, along with Babe Ruth, to cover first base territory should Gehrig need assistance in this department. 'Accordingly, it can be readily seen that the American League champions are well fixed to offset "old man gloom" should injury follow them in any position on the diamond. The Pirstes, in case of need, must

The Pirates, in case of need, must The Pirates, in case of need, must press into service players not displaying the quality of ball that the New York reserves are capable of showing. Neither Cronin nor Groh have played very many games this season the former being untried in series play, while the latter is more willing in spirit than in physical ability, for years of service find him about ready to pass out of the picture as a ball player.

base, the Pirates would have to force Rhyne into service while a 8 O 8 call from first-base terri-tory will find it necessary to switch either Paul Waner from the out-field or Grantham from second.

The National League team is confronted with the proposition of sending its team through the series with its regular line-up in there every minute of play. A single substitution with the exception of the use of Cuyler in the outfield would weaken them considerably more than their opponents, should they be forced to fall back on other than their regulars. A glance at the statistics show the Yankee reserves to outclass the Pirates both in batting and fielding. Figures on Rhyne and Cuyler were omitted, as they were previously printed.

Tomorrow's article will tend to describe the pitching strength of the rivals.

here tomorrow, when Tom Zachary and George Pipgras are expected to do the finging. Harris and Ganzel singled with one dead in the top frame, but these blows were not used. Then Ruth stepped up with two dead and put his team on top with his liner into the right field stands.

In the second frame, after Koenig had given Bluege life, Bob Reeves put the Nats in the van by depositing one in the stands in left.

The Yankees seemed to consider Bob's action as an affront and were most savage in their attack when they came in from the field, pounding Lisenbee off the peak in a seven-run onslaught. Two bases on balls, two doubles, two singles and a triple by Ruth, this latter being a harder blow than the Babe's homer in the opener, did the damage.

GRIDMEN ON N. Y. TRIP

Capable Players Are Lacking to Play City College.

THE George Washington University players will be a team of "iron men" this season, more because of necessity than anything else. A squad of only nineteen persons, officially connected with the team, will make the trip New York today for its game against the City College of New York. As Coach Crum is ineligible, and as the two managers and the trainer are accompanying the game is left entirely to the remaining fifteen players of this select body. The adoption of the one-year residence rule at George Washington has been the main reason of this woeful shortage of capable material in the variety ranks.

The Colonials will line-up as follows: Capt. Allhouse, left end; Hartsog, left tackle; Goldman, left guard; Athey, center; Forter, right guard; Crombre, right tackle; Perry, right end; Lopeman, quarterback; Clapper and Stehman, halfbacks, and Sapp, fullback.

The reserve material, which can be comfortably accommodated on a few chairs on the sidelines, instead of occupying the regular long players' bench, are Walker, center; Saunders, quarterback; Smith, lineman, and Seaman, an end.

American U. Prepares

For G. W. Game Oct. 8

The pending contest between the American University and Oeorge Washington University football teams, to be played on October 8 at the Central High School stadium, was officially put on the schedules of the respective teams.

The game originally scheduled for this date with the Ahenandoah College at American U. has been postponed until November 25, according to Coach Sprigaton, of American University.

Terris Badly Beaten; Decision to Martinez

New York, Sept. 29 (A.P.).—Sid Terris, ghetto lightweight, lost the judges' decision to Hilario Martinez, of Spain, after ten rounds of fighting at the Queensberry Club tonight.

Early in the second session Martinez nailed Terris with a solid right smash to the chin. Badly hurt, Terris went down, and came up to run into a series of solid punches to the chin that floored him again. Vainly Terris tried to speed out of danger when he arose for the second time, but another solid smash dumped the New Yorker in a heap again.

Georgetown Pleases Coach Little in Drill

Coach Little, for the first time in the Coach Little, for the first time in the past few weeks, was pleased with the showing of the Georgetown football squad in yesterday's snappy practice at the Hilltop. With the Susquehanna game only two days off, the players were drilled only in the kicking and passing formations in dummy scrimmage against the freshmen, using the Susquehanna plays.

The Pennsylvanians are due to arrive in the Capital today, and will most likely work out on the Hill top. Three changes have been made in the first team. Hudak and Duplin will play in the back field in the places of Barabas and Nork, both of whom are bothered with leg injuries. Mosko will resume his former, post at right tackle after a lengthy residence on the second team. Otherwise the team that started against Lenoir-Rhyne will remain intact, with Monson and Tomaini at ends, Mooney at tackle, Carroll and Saur at guards and Capt. Grisby at center.

curve-ball artists, while Hill and Kremer have speed as well as curves.

The Yankees, with Pennock and Ruether, are well fixed as to southpaws, although it is hardly likely that the latter will be called on except, perhaps, in a relief role. Although Pennock has not had the best of seasons, his arm appears to be freer now than it has been for some time, and his craftiness, coolness and courage should enable him to come through as one of the stars of the series, along with Hoyt.

The latter may not be as fast as Hill, of the Buca, but he is a change of pace master, long on control, and tough with men on the bases. Pipagras, a comparative youngster, probably has more stuff than any member of either staff, but he has not learned how to handle it as well. He has come along fast, but has yet to acquire dependability such as is needed in a world's series. His repertoire includes a good curve, a snorting fast ball, a slow ball and a knuckle ball.

Wiley Moore, unawed in the pres-

Wiley Moore, unawed in the presence of any one, who has proven a master relief man for the Yankees, is likely to be a starter in the comfag set, Huggins hints. He has a fast ball, a fair curve and a sinker, the latter having pussled the batters of practically every American League team this season.

Covinthian Insect, Midget and Junior Nines meet toinght at the Immaculate Conception Hall, Eighth and N streets anothwest at 8 o'clock.

The insects will plan for basketball and, any players wishing to try out for the team are invited to be present at the meeting.

Two Petworth Clubs Combine for Football

These games are of the experimental nature and will afford the coaches their first opportunity to get a line on their charges in action. Eastern will enter its fray with an inexperienced backfield.

Central has a wealth of material to throw into its game and Coach Kelly will use this game as the means of picking his first team.

Green teams also is the rule among the prep school elevens. St. John's will take the field with only two experienced men in the line-up, namely Yeatman and Chadwick. Emerson coaches are undecided on the line-up they will use against Gallaudet, but probably every man on the squad will see action before the scrimmage is over.

Bathhouse and Two Swimming Pools to Cost $79,950.

LOEHLER WINS AWARD

A contract for construction of bath house, a beginners' swimming pool and another swimming pool on the grounds of the McKinley High School was yesterday awarded to the G. G. Loehler Co., Franklin National Bank Building, by the office of the Director of Public Buildings and Public Parks.

The original bid of the Loshler Co., lowest bidder, at the opening of bids August 12, was $104.544. This figure has been reduced to $79,980 by mutual agreement, due to the elimination of nas been reduced to the elimination of minor items.

The awarding of the contract at first was held up because of a protest by the Board of Education. The original scheme for the bath house and two swimming pools conflicted with a plan for ornamental steps forming an entrance to the school grounds.

Although the Board of Education made the protest, A. L. Harris, municipal architect, was the original plaintiff. However, the trouble has been solved by merely reversing the scheme for the bath house and swimming pools.

The bath house will be placed in the southwest corner of the grounds and the swimming pool will extend in front of the steps. Mr. Harris complained that the bath house, which under the old scheme would stand where der the old scheme would stand where the larger swimming pool now will be located, would obstruct the vista from Strawbridge; supervising principals and the steps. He argued the bath house attendance department, Franklin, Sel-should be in the corner.

make the affair a yearly one.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the axhibit is the agre and thought which has been put into the individual touches of the homes. It is the came put into the little things which ear change altogether the character of a home.

The peak of attendance so far has been from 4 o'clock in the afterneou until the hour of closing—10 o'clock and that a more leisurely and thorough inspection of the homes may be enjoyed it is urged wherever possible it inspect the homes earlier in the day.

tempt to break the continuous flight record of 52 hours 22 minutes, held by German aviators. They also intend to attempt another round-the-world flight some time in the future, but announced they hal made no plans. They said they were satisfied they could have made the transpacific flight successfully with the Pride of Detroit.

The abandonment of the flight was caused by public opinion, the fliers asserted. Brock continued:

"We received more than 800 cablegrams in Tokyo urging us to abandor the flight. The world seemed to regard the Facific flight as suicide. We did not see it that way.

"On this trip we had covered 15,551 miles in 162 hours 2 minutes and 49 seconds in the air. We had hayed only one spark plug. We had confidence in our motor and in our plane. We were sure we could make the hop of about 4,000 miles to Honolulu from Tokyo.

"We met tough weather in India and Burma and some other places, besides the typhoon in Japan. We passed through four typhoons. They threw the plane around like a toy, but the flight has been at disappointment, because we started out to 3cm the price of Washington have declared the regular disappointment, because we started out it, "Schlee said. "However, perhaps this has not been explained; that our flight was 5,000 miles longer than we had figured it because we could not fly through Russia. We were unable to tuel there. We had made more than 15,000 miles when we arrived in Japan. We had been a disappointment, because we started out for the company in New York, whose agency work a record business of 635.

BRIDE ASKS TO ENTER JUVENILE COURT CASE

Seeks to Intervene in Test to Fix Jurisdiction in Felony Complaints.

William W. Bride, corporation counsel, asked the Court of Appeals yesterday to permit him to intervene in the Harold Reed case, a habeas corpus proceeding which centers about the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court over minors who are arrested on felony charges. This jurisdiction is disputed by the district attorney's office. The lower court upheld the power of the Juvenile Court and the district attorney's office appealed.

Mr. Bride says the question involved "is of great moment to the Juvenile Court in that it will determine the furisdictional limits of that court and will affect its powers over persons unjurisdictional limits of that court and will affect its powers over persons under 17 years of age."

The Reed case is a sort of companion case to the Frederick C. Russell case, which resulted in a contempt citation by Judge Kathryn Sellers, of the Juvenile Court, against Assistant District Attorney Leo A. Rover, Chief Deputy Marshal Stephen B. Callahan and George A. Stirling, superintendent of the National Training School, who transferred Russell from the school to the jail. Whether the Juvenile Court will proceed with the contempt hearings depends upon the outcome of the Reed case.
